THE SENIOR CLASS

HELTONVILLE HIGH SCHOOL

— TO —
MR. BARTLETT
AND

ALL THE PEOPLE,
BUSINESSES AND ORGANIZATIONS THAT MADE OUR NEW GYMNASIUM POSSIBLE
WE, THE SENIORS, DO DEDICATE OUR YEARBOOK
OF 1950

A great ambition of a great many people (all the people of Heltonville and their friends) was fulfilled the evening of December 20 when the new gymnasium was filled to overflowing for the dedicatory services for the gym.

The gym was dedicated to the memory of the H. H. S. boys who gave their lives in War II, the American Legion had charge of the flag raising ceremonies and several officials spoke during the services. Ruel Steele, Bedford attorney, was master of ceremonies and Mr. Gee, school superintendent, spoke briefly. The basketball team played its part by winning the ball game with Tampico.

And so, the gym now stands--for today's children and tomorrow's--a symbol of what hard work, loyalty, and faith can do in a community. The school and community are united in pride of this beautiful and useful building.

CLASS HISTORY

September, 1946, found twenty-seven wee pea-green freshman looking for seats in the assembly. As subjects we had algebra, English, biology, shop, home economics and physical education. Our sponsor, Mrs. Barlow, was kept busy guiding us through this year. Our first freshman class party was a skating party and the second was a weiner roast at Wilson Park.

Upon the return to our sophomore year, with Mrs. Faubion as our sponsor, we missed the faces of Mildred Kinser, Carrie Kinser, Virgal Bartlett, Virgil Thomas, George Bundy, Onetta Todd, and Marjorie Chambers, but welcomed Letta Mae White, Martha Fisher and Clarence Norman. We enjoyed parties at Thornton Park and Wilson Park.

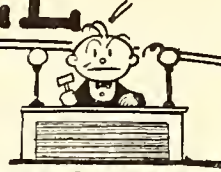

September, 1948, found twenty-two juniors with their sponsor working hard in U. S. History, English, mechanical drawing, girl's home-making, and beginning typing. We had lost one member, Martha Fisher, who is now married. We worked hard in our magazine sales and managed to take the Seniors to Madison. While there, we visited the Lanier home and walked across the Ohio River Bridge into Kentucky. On our return trip we stopped off at Clifty Falls State Park where we ate a most welcome supper. After reloading, we started our long trip back to H. S. As it was now dark, the boys had stopped shooting paper wads, and a few snores could be heard as some of our "Early-to-Bedders" caught a few winks of sleep.

The fall of 1949 found the same twenty-two Seniors in their seats in the assembly by the windows. This year Mr. East (poor guy) was chosen to be our sponsor. This year we have the responsibility of publishing the school paper, making the annual and all such things involving hard work. Monday, October 24, was set aside for the annual junior-senior trip. We started about 8:30 and our first stop was at Huntingburg where we saw the different processes of pottery making. Our next stop was at Santa Claus, Indiana, where we saw Santa and his reindeer. We later journeyed for two hours in cold, dark Wyandotte Cave, but cold and dark as it was, we loved it. Our next stop was in Corydon, the first capital of Indiana, where we ate our supper. After eating, we boarded the bus and started back home, arriving about 10:30. As all paper wad shooting had been prohibited this year, we enjoyed the trip much more. Our first class party was at the Jackson County State Forest.

As we look back over the last four years, we've done our work (in our own slow way), and had our fun, and we wish to thank the teachers for helping us through our classes so we could be members of the graduating class of 1950.

CLASS WILL

We, the class of '50, wish to will some of our most prized abilities and characteristics to our beloved classmates. Cherish these gifts always----you may not receive their like again. (Fortunately!)

I, Raymond Dodds, will my ability to wiggle my ears so as to entertain the rest of the class during the "dull and boring" hours to Dean Blackwell. . .

I, Pearl East, will my many boyfriends to Carolyn Baker. I hope you can get along with all of them better than I did.

I, Bill Ford, will my wolfish ways to Richard Turner. Beware of girls with the right hooks.

I, George Fountain, will my ability to have a steady girlfriend and be privileged to sit with her during study periods to Everett Hunter.

I, Marjorie Fountain, will my ability to say the "wrong things at the right time" to Marjorie Chambers. Marge, it is rather embarrassing sometimes.

I, Carolyn Harrell, will my ability to attend all ball games to Joan Johnson. The cheering section must not weaken.

I, Clovis Hearth, will my cute little grin to Martha Trogdon. I find that it attracts the opposite sex much better than that long, loud giggle.

I, Rodney Hilderbrand, will my ability to sleep sitting up to Floyd Moron. Pleasant dreams next year, Floyd.

I, Myron Hudson, will six inches of my legs to Peggy Todd, provided she makes good use of them.

I, Ivan Hunter, will my ability to get along with Miss Clark to Bill Brown.

I, Dwight Jones, will my reserved manner to Whimpy Marlott, in order that the seniors of '51 may have some peace and quiet.

I, Laverne Kinser, will my ability to wear two rings during my senior year to Evelyn Hunter. You have to be a smooth talker, Doll.

I, Wilma Murphy, will my curly hair to Colleen Allen. Now you won't have to wear it in pin curls to school so often, Colleen.

I, Clarence Norman, will my large ears to my school bus driver, Herman Smith, for stop signs.

I, Ruth Owens, will my eyebrow tweezers to Vernice Deckard. Yours must be worn out by now, Vernice.

I, Irvin Sherrill, will my sleeping chair in government class to Keith Norman in hopes that he uses it to the best of his ability.

I, Josephine Tanksley, will my long, loud whistle to Leora Stancombe. It is a good way to attract boys long distance.

I, Dean Todd, have nothing to will, lost it all in a crap game.

I, June Turner, will my quietness to Helen and Jeanne Bartlett. Even a little bit might help.

I, Lorene White, will my pills to Shirley Todd so she won't be such a pain in the neck to the class and teachers next year.

I, Letta Mae White, will my ability to work in restaurants where one can meet several tall, dark, and handsome customers to Joan Ford.

I, Delight Willis, will my many different types of giggle boxes to Wilma Bailey so H. H. S. won't be so quiet after I'm gone.

Thus, we say farewell and we sincerely hope you will all use these abilities, characteristics and what-have-you to the best advantage.

CLASS PROPHECY

OR

FROM RAGS TO RICHES

I was getting tired of my gay life as a socialite, so one morning my husband handed me an extra $100,000 and told me to take a vacation. As I am my husband's ninth wife, I hesitated to leave him, but I finally took his advice and decided on a tour of the United States.

When I boarded the plane at Phoenix, and headed for Los Angeles, who should I meet but Wilma Murphy! She told me that she had taken stewardess training because someone had told her that the altitude cured giggles. She still isn't married but has her hopes placed on a certain pilot. We soon arrived in Los Angeles and from there I journeyed to Hollywood to see the movie stars. I particularly wanted to see Carolyn who is considered the new and younger Evelyn Keyes, famous for her red hair. We had a very short visit in which she told me that she had never married and was interested only in her career. Carolyn had seen Ivan the day before in the studio commissary and he has a swank penthouse in Beverly Hills. He told her that his main ambition is to play opposite Carolyn in the new movie she is making. Soon it was time for us to part and I continued my journey. My destination was Heltonville.

When I reached Heltonville at last, tired and hungry, I headed for the best-looking restaurant in town which was the "White Derby" with Letta White as its manager. Letta had built her super cafe on the site of the old Belton Cafe. After eating, I went to Letta's office to swap some gossip. Of course she was very busy but glad to see me. She had made a trip to Indianapolis last week and while there had run onto Josephine and Pearl. Josephine is married and has six lovely children, five girls and a boy. Josephine seemed in a hurry but Pearl and Letta had had a long chat. During their talk Letta noticed a diamond on Pearl's hand and Pearl explained that this was definitely her last engagement after five unsuccessful ones. Pearl was working, trying to pay for the furniture she had bought when she became engaged the first time. Letta also told me that Mrs. Hanners had been appointed State Supervisor of Home Economics. All good things must end, and soon I had to leave Letta and hunt a hotel room.

As I drove down the street I came upon a short stubby man-nobody else but Clovis Hearth! I hailed him and he, after asking about me and my husband, invited me to take a tour of his factory. He explained that it was a new branch of the Studebaker Automotive Corporation of which he had been made president. After leaving the factory building I resumed my quest of a hotel. At the outskirts of town, my eyes were attracted by the sign, "Rest Haven Home." I went in and reserved a room, and as I started upstairs I passed a door with the sign "Irvin Sherrill, Proprietor, Private." I laughed as I heard the snores emanating from the closed door and thought of the many snoozes Irvin had taken in Government class just ten short years ago.

Next morning the first sound I heard was that of racing motors and hammers on steel. Leaving the hotel, I was confronted by a sign "U-Bust-It, We-Fix-It Garage." Under this was lettered "Rodney Hilderbrand, Fixer." Buying a morning paper, I glanced at the heading and saw that it was THE HELTONVILLE MORNING STAR and Mrs. Denny the editor. The headlines praised Mr. Ray's team of H. H. S. BlueJackets for winning the State Basketball Championship. The next page of the paper was an ad by Raymond and "Doll" describing their new motorcycle race track jointly owned by them, which was located just east of Heltonville.

On down the street, who should I meet but Laverne and George! We were excited over the meeting and since people were staring at us, George finally led us into the nearest breakfast room. There Laverne explained that she and George were married a year after they graduated and now had three rowdy sons, Lorenzo, Clem, and Elmer. George told me he had been farming with his brother since his graduation from high school. When I asked about Marjorie, George said she had joined the WAC's and had risen to a very high rank. He said she and Gerald had been engaged for some time but could never agree on a date for their wedding. As we ate, the old song, "Bell Bottom Trousers" was played. This reminded Laverne of Dean Todd and his "career." She said he is in the navy, and from what she heard he is having many romantic adventures on the South Pacific Isle of Paradise. Dean always had a taste for the South Seas!

As no visit would be complete without seeing my best friend, I followed June up and found her at her typewriter in the Prosecuting Attorney's office in Heltonville. It wasn't until I questioned her about her romantic hopes that she explained she is engaged to her boss! They expect to be married in a month. June had seen Delight a short time before when they were back to Heltonville on her husband's furlough. She is married to Major Harold Kinser of Fort Knox, Kentucky, and they have a baby daughter, Josette. After I had told June about my own thrilling life, I left her to her typewriter. As I passed the Second National Bank, I stepped inside to cash a check. There I saw a door lettered "Wilbert Gilstrap, President." Then I took my leave of Heltonville and my many friends there.

I felt it necessary to see at least one ball game in Indiana. This I chose to see at I. U., the school where I took my business training. As the team came out onto the field, who should be leading them but our high school cheerleader, Clarence Norman! Clarence had a date with an I. U. coed after the game, but he found time to tell me that he is going to college to become a coach. He said he wanted to take over Mr. Ray's position as basketball coach at H. H. S. Clarence said he had seen Myron Hudson a month before, when his team played Indiana Central. Myron is a professional ball player for Indiana Central, now. He and Wilma White still go together, but they won't get married, because Wilma says Myron leads a much too dangerous life for her to share.

I had heard of Miss Clark's appointment as head of the Library of Congress in Washington, so I decided to drop in and see her. Miss Clark was very happy and hinted that she had, at last, found THE MAN, a representative from Utah. She told me that Mr. East had been elected by an overwhelming majority as Senator from Indiana. She also told me of Dwight Jones' great success in the medical world. He went to Johns Hopkins University, graduating as Doctor of Medicine with honors. After taking special training, he is now a brilliant surgeon at Johns Hopkins Hospital.

Next, I headed for New York City. I needed some new clothes, so I went straight to Sak's Fifth Avenue. Many new creations were shown me but none seemed exactly right until one model came out wearing the most lovely gown! As I looked closer I realized that this model was none other than Lorene White, now "Rene." The saleslady told me that Lorene had made a brilliant career for herself, designing and modeling, and the gown she wore she had designed herself.

Driving along, I saw an announcement of an art exhibit. As it was about time for it, I asked the driver to take me there. When I arrived, I noticed several people engrossed in a group of paintings. My curiosity was aroused, so I walked over there. When I inquired from someone the name of the artist, he looked at me curiously and said, "Why, haven't you ever heard of M. K. Faubion?"

I had stayed longer than I intended, so I left immediately to rest a bit before I boarded a plane for my return trip. By the schedule I saw that I would have to change planes at Dallas, Texas. When I reached Dallas, I had 3 hours between planes, so I decided to go out and look the town over. Absorbed in the people, Bill Ford. With him was his wife. They were having dinner in town so they invited me to join them. I accepted and was kept busy telling Bill of my visit with our former school friends. Bill told me that 5 years ago he had bought a large cattle ranch near Dallas. I could see that he had prospered! Soon my time was up and I parted with them. When I was resting in the airliner, I relived my trip across the United States. As I neared Phoenix and my home, I realized that that had been a perfect vacation because I had seen all my former classmates and high school teachers.

SENIORS OF '51 — BRAINS, BEAUTY, BASKETBALL

Keith Norman, Bill Brown, "Whimpy" Marlott, Wesley Murphy, Richard Baldwin

Row two: Catherine George, Jeannie Bartlett, Helen Bartlett, Vernice Deckard, Sarianne Chambers, Carolyn Baker, Marjorie Chambers, Rose Turpen, Lois Kinser, Ruth Miller, Barbara Todd, Evelyn Hunter, Willa Howe, Wilma Bailey, Mrs. Denny, sponsor

Juniors have more fun than anybody! When they aren't working overtime on typing, they are struggling with English, history, bookkeeping, or home economics and when all those subjects are combined with assembly programs, class parties, basketball, and class plays, the junior class becomes a "bee hive" of activity.

This year as juniors we have only nineteen members left in our class since Mary Lou Lively deserted us for matrimony. During the first semester we took the senior class to Wyandotte Cave for a day's outing and had our own class party in Brown County State Park where Willa Howe ate too many hot dogs and Richard Baldwin drove too fast.

During our sophomore year Mrs. Denny was our sponsor and we had parties at Spring Mill Park. We lost Irene Hillenburg, Catherine George, Marilou Flynn, Donald Henderson, Eddie Kirk, Louise Short, Barbara Turpen, Diane Taylor, Pearl McArthur, and Donna Morgan but we gained Carolyn Baker, Richard Baldwin, Bill Brown, Marjorie Chambers, Mary Lou Huff, and "Whimp" Marlott.

Our freshman year with Mrs. Nell Crider as our sponsor was spent in the usual rush of questions with no answers and wrong answers to the right questions but, luckily enough, we made it.

Next year we expect to occupy the senior seats with grace, dignity, and charm--quite an improvement, you know!

As wee little freshies we had twenty-nine meek voices answer "present" to our first high school roll call. With Mrs. Beckman as our sponsor we soon found that meekness was no asset in the upper four grades so we have since turned on the pep. During the year Velma Hawkins found us too much to bear and departed from our class.

We entertained ourselves with two class parties; one at Wilson Park and the other at Martin Lake with transportation by "wagon and hay."

VELMA BARTLETT
PRESIDENT

Beginning this year we could count only nineteen sophomore noses in the sophomore pews. By checking we found that we had lost Marilyn Sowders, Kathryn Smoot, Verna Peters, Patsy Turpen, Laura Walls, Kenneth Allen and Raymond Cummings. We gained Martha Goff, Donna Morgan, Bill Bailey, and our staunch sponsor, Miss Clark. John Wubben later moved to Arizona, Fred Wubben packed his books and left us, and Jean Lantz chose the path of early matrimony rather than the one on which we are now struggling.

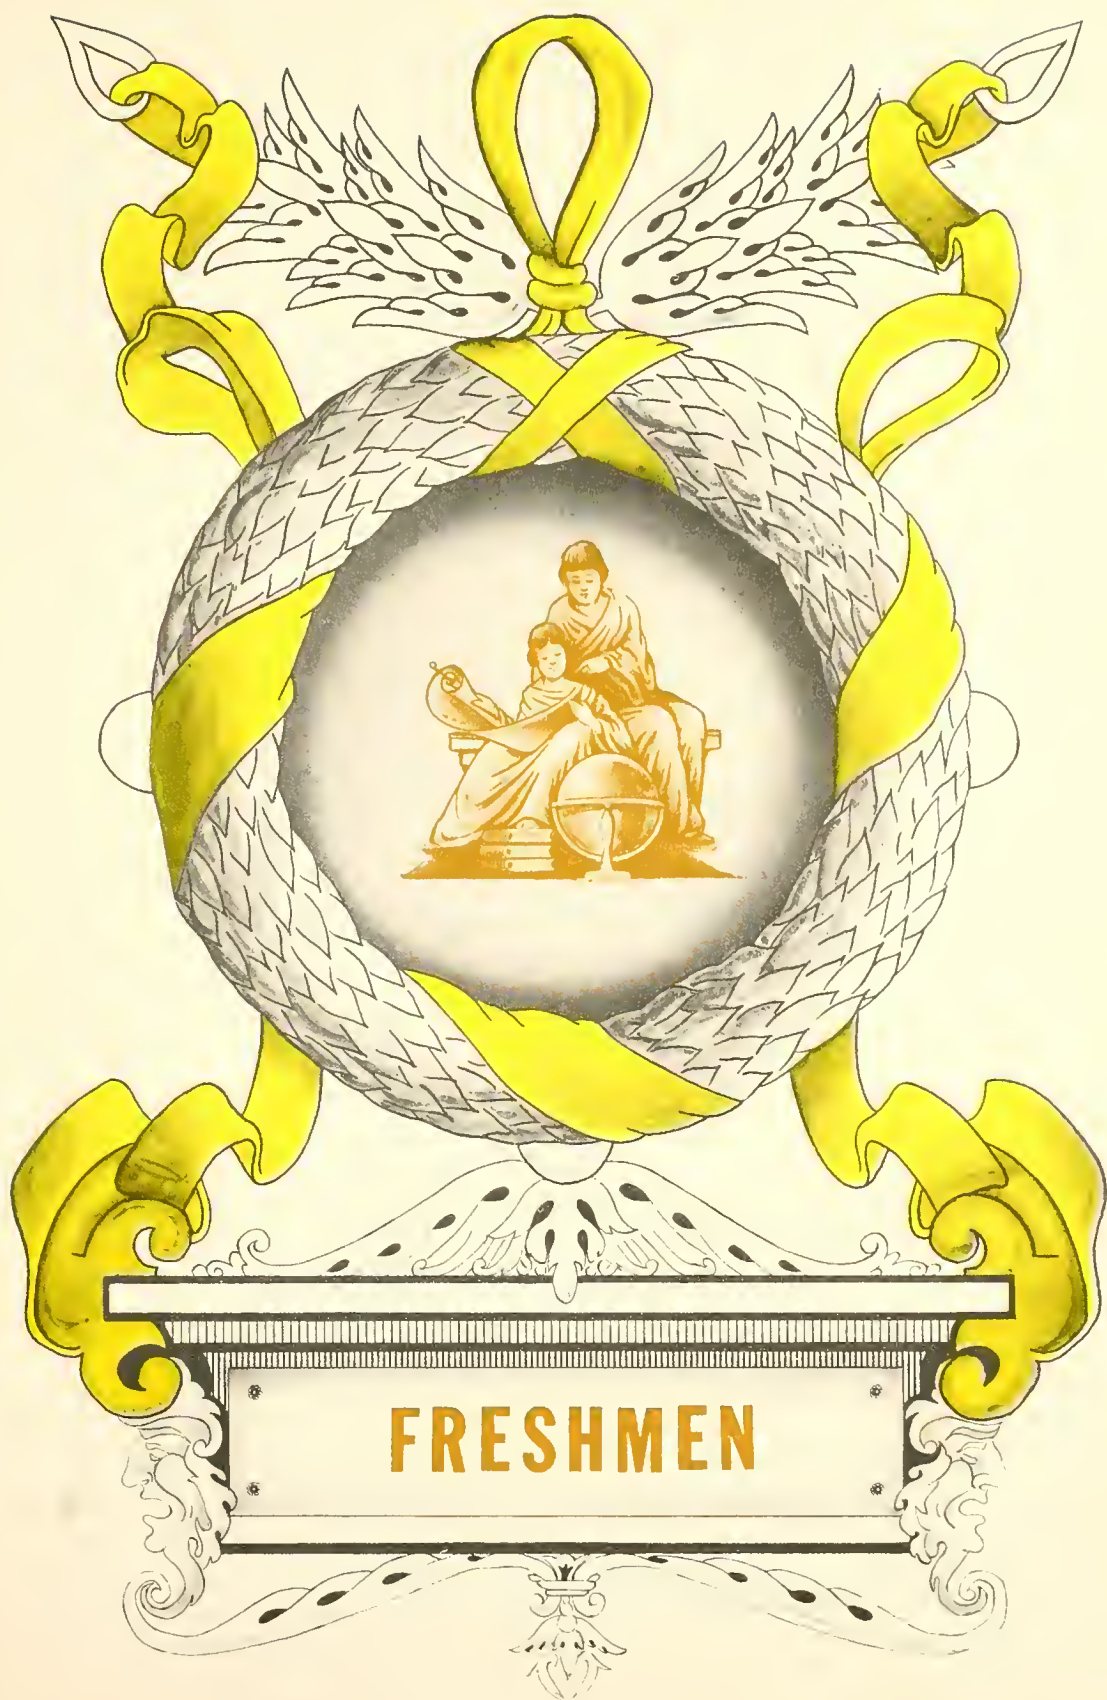

EVERETT HUNTER
SEC.-TREAS.

We have had a class party at Spring Mill Park and plan another one with the return of the "bees, the birds, and the good green grass."

If the love bug, jobs, and interferences in general will just stay 'way from our door we hope to have all our present members back next year.

STILL TRYING TO AVOID THE HIGH SCHOOL RUSH

Row two: Warren Bartlett, Thomas Horton, Roger Fish, Richard Turner, Donald Goff, Bill Denniston, Dean Blackwell, LaDonna George, Ruth Ellen Todd, Joan Ford, Joan Norman, Mildred Deckard, Ruth Fish, Mrs. Hanners

As school began this trying year, Mrs. Hanners, our sponsor, hustled all the little baby freshies into the tired and worn seats 'way back in the back of the assembly. It is our understanding that by diligent and painful effort we may some day be allowed to sit in the front of the assembly and be called by that wonderful name "senior."

We fight a daily battle with our foes biology, algebra, English, home-making and shop. Sometimes we come out ahead and sometimes our report cards say the enemy has won--sad sad day!

We have had one class party when we journeyed to Anderson's Roller Rink and rolled around on the floor and occasionally on the skates. Several of our members have joined the band, twirlers, glee club, girls' or boys' athletics, or worse yet, the tumblers. At any rate, freshmen can usually be seen dashing hither and yon most any time of the day--always on legal business.

We have lost two members, Edna Sowders and Gary Henderson and have added two others to our roll, Willard Turpen and Paul Bartlett. Eight of the thirteen girls in our class have joined the Sunshine Club and eight of the fifteen boys play on our basketball teams. Needless to say, you'll be hearing more from us in the next few years.
